New Rudders for Reynolds 33

Pierre Forand

Reynolds 33 on Okanagan Lake, before new rudders

The concern was shallow water in Okanagan Lake, high speed, rudders kick up, no steerage...

Side by side comparison of new rudder,

The wizard architect is Richard [Ricardo] Stanley The Osoyoos sailing club has a few of these sailing unsung wizards.

It is the North American strong hold for the Seasprays...Lots of old but very good racers in this club.

The boat with both new rudders installed.

The new rudder have less surface area, less drag, more speed, less stress on boat at high speed...and so on...

At low speed, loaded with 7 people and with only the main...the steering is sluggish...

However, at high speed, 22 knots, the boat handle like a dream.
